School District Approves PracticeMax To Provide Billing Services For Special Education Program

Scottsdale, Arizona –GroupMSO, dba PracticeMax, one of the nation’s largest medical accounts receivable management firms, announced today that the Kingman Unified School District, in Kingman Arizona, has approved PracticeMax to perform Medicaid billing services for the District’s Special Education program.

About six (6) months ago, PracticeMax and MediaNet Solutions, Inc. (MSI), provider of special education software known as e-IEP Pro, combined resources to establish a unique automated technology solution. The enhanced version of e-IEP Pro is designed to reduce data entry time, paper, labor, and risk management exposure, while improving HIPPA compliance, cash flow, and provide enhanced management oversight for client school districts throughout Arizona.

Jeff Kline, president of MSI, has seen many of his company’s district clients overall potential Medicaid reimbursements decrease with the recent Medicaid changes where less funds are available to cover the ever increasing cost of providing special educational services to their students. Given MSI’s unique position as both a technology company and in its role of providing a solution that captures a significant amount of the information required for Medicaid reimbursements, “we knew we were in a unique position to streamline and greatly assist our districts in addressing these issues” according to Kline. Additionally, given the concerns as noted in recent audits, “we believe that Arizona districts will also greatly benefit from a professional medical accounts receivable management firm with a certified professional staff to process their claims and assure their AHCCCS and Medicaid compliance.”

“PracticeMax is excited about the opportunity of supporting Arizona school districts and their special education programs” stated Bill Carns, President & CEO of PracticeMax. Carns further added, “combining the advanced technologies of MSI and PracticeMax along with the experience of our certified coding and claims management professionals will allow our district clients to consistently achieve the highest appropriate level of reimbursement for provided services. Medicaid reimbursement is a dynamic science that requires constant monitoring and assessment to maintain the districts compliance.”

Kingman Unified School District is comprised of 11 schools and services a special needs population of more than 1000 students. Beth Ferry, Director of Exceptional Student Services for KUSD stated; “KUSD #20 approved the proposal presented by PracticeMax. We are excited about working with MSI and PracticeMax and believe that their collective experience and professionalism will allow us to focus our attention on educating our special education students and leave the ever complicated billing functions in the hands of certified professionals”.
